CAMBODIA: MARKET WATCH

The almost imperceptible game of seesaw, with results varying by slim degrees back and forth on a daily basis, continued on the CSX index yesterday. It closed up a hair, gaining 0.58 points to 541.53 on the exchange of 68,777 shares valued at 692,872,770 riels. Both figures were down from Wednesday's results, that were in turn up from Tuesday's. PPAP managed a jump of 160 riels to land at 15,380 riels/share. There was a three-way pileup at the 20 riels rise mark, with PWSA, PPSP and ABC all screeching to a halt upon reaching that threshold to close at 7,100, 2,120 and 12,800 riels/share respectively. PEPC made do with a hop of 10 riels, to finish up at 3,160 riels/share. PAS held steady at 3,160 riels per share. (Khmer Times)

CAMBODIA: Cambodia commits to enhancing the CLV Development Triangle Area

Cambodia has committed to develop the Cambodia-Laos-Vietnam Development Triangle Area (CLV-DTA) in order to contribute to enhancing cross border trade activities and improving the livelihoods of the region's peoples. This according to Pan Sorasak, Minister of Commerce and Chairman of the Cambodia-Laos-Vietnam Triangle Development Cooperation Coordinating Committee during a virtual meeting with Chheang Von, Chairman of the National Assembly Committee on Foreign Affairs, International Cooperation, Propaganda and Information of the National Assembly yesterday. In the meeting, Sorasak said the efforts of the Cambodian government have continuously transformed the provinces in the region through efforts including the construction of infrastructure, the mobilization of domestic and foreign investment and the creation of job opportunities, adding that these improvements contribute daily to significantly reducing poverty among the region's people. Cambodia has revised the Master Plan for Socio-Economic Development in the CLV DTA to 2030 to adapt to the current situation. Sorasak said, "The revising [of the] master plan includes post Covid-19 (New Normal) development through cross-border trade and the normalization of our society and economy. It also includes specific plans and projects to implement the action plan for CLV economic connectivity until 2030, focusing on digital commerce to promote economic development and improve the lives of people in CLV provinces." The meeting aimed to check and discuss the progress of the development triangle in preparation for the 8th meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Cambodia-Laos-Vietnam Parliament, which Cambodia will host in the upcoming future. CAMBODIA: Cambodia-S. Korea latest trade valued at $451 MN

Bilateral trade between Cambodia and South Korea is growing ahead of a draft bilateral trade agreement expected to be signed and put into effect by the end of this year. From January to June, two-way trade was valued at $451 million, a year-to-date increase of 6.7%, according to data from the Korea International Trade Association. Cambodia exported $159 million of goods to South Korea, a contraction of 1.6% during the period. South Korea's exports to the Kingdom rose by 11.9% to $292 million. Lim Heng, vice-president of Cambodia Chamber of Commerce, said: "It is a good move because the two countries are about to sign and implement the upcoming free trade pact." Full implementation of the deal would be next year, according to the Ministry of Commerce. Under the terms of the deal, tariffs and tax exemptions and other trade barriers will be reduced and trade between Cambodia and South Korea is expected to increase, Seang Thay, the ministry's spokesman, said recently. Once the pact is put into effect, more investment from South Korea and other foreign countries will consider coming in and making investments for processing and producing goods for export to South Korea, Heng said. Cambodia's major products exported to South Korea are clothes, footwear, travel goods, beverages, electronic appliances, rubber, pharmaceuticals and agricultural products, while its main imports from the country were vehicles, electronics, kitchen appliances, beverages, pharmaceuticals and plastic products. In 2020, South Korea was the eighth largest export market for Cambodian goods after the US, Japan, China, the UK, Canada, Thailand and Vietnam. Last year, Cambodia exported $317 million of products to South Korea, a decline of 18% compared with the previous year. It imported $567 million from the country, down 5%. (Khmer Times)

CAMBODIA: Global economic rebound to lift Cambodia's export and investment

The National Bank of Cambodia (NBC)'s Governor Chea Chanto has said that the global economic recovery will support Cambodia's export and investment sectors, reinforcing its position as a pillar of support for relevant sectors, to boost the national economy into positive growth and sow the seeds of an eventual rebound in tourism. He said developed countries have continued to adopt fiscal and monetary stimulus measures and ramped up vaccination drives to support social welfare and economic activity. However, the governor said, inequities in access to vaccines and domestic issues have led to an uneven economic recovery, with developed countries expected to recover faster than emerging and developing countries. The Cambodian economy, like the economies of developing countries, may also face a new wave of COVID-19, an increase in public and private debts, and an increase in inequality and poverty, Chanto said. The government has put in place strict and timely measures to prevent and reduce the spread of COVID-19 in the community and to implement a nationwide vaccination campaign as soon as possible. The measures package has step-by-step helped mitigate the effects of the pandemic, especially in helping the poor, vulnerable people and priority sectors, he said. The governor noted with consistent government policy, the NBC has implemented monetary stimulus packages and eased macro measures to meet the financing needs of the economy and alleviate the burden of pandemic-hit cash strapped customers. CAMBODIA: Benefits to Sino-Cambodian cooperation cited by experts

China and Cambodia's cooperation in achieving economic growth and their work together fighting the Coronavirus pandemic, have not come at the expense of other global relationships, according to top economists and senior government officials who attended a conference on Friday. The China-Cambodia Economic and Trade Cooperation Forum was organized by independent Phnom Penh-based think tank The Asian Vision Institute, in collaboration with the China Institute of Economic Trend and China Economic Net. China's Ambassador to Cambodia Wang Wentian told the forum nearly 15,000 Chinese enterprises are playing key roles in the Kingdom's economic development and creating jobs for Cambodians. He said that China's continued strong economic growth can only benefit its neighbors. "China's development will provide new opportunities for the world," he said. "China is the hinterland and support for Cambodia's economic development and also the first and largest supplier of vaccines. Let us make every effort to deepen cooperation, make more benefits for our people and help the development of Asia and the world," Wang said. Asian Vision Institute president Chheang Vannarith echoed the ambassador's sentiment. "China is the top investor and development partner in the Kingdom and plays a critical role in development and poverty reduction," he said. Vannarith noted that the 2010 Comprehensive Strategic Partnership between the 2 countries was the first that Cambodia had ever signed and was followed up by the 2017 agreement on implementing China's Belt and Road initiative to connect Asia with Africa and Europe. Bilateral agreements culminated in last year's free trade agreement between the 2 countries. (Khmer Times)

CAMBODIA: Cambodia's banking industry remains healthy despite COVID-19 pandemic

Cambodia's banking industry enjoyed strong growth in both loans and deposits in the first half of 2021 despite the COVID-19 pandemic, according to the latest report of the National Bank of Cambodia, the country's central bank, on Friday. Outstanding loans rose by 19 % year-on-year to $33.9 billion as of June this year, while customers' deposits increased by 20.8 % to 32.7 billion, the report said. The loans have been provided to key sectors such as trade, housing, construction, and manufacturing, among others, it said, adding that Non-Performing Loan (NPL) is at a controllable rate of 2.4 %. In Channy, chairman of the Association of Banks in Cambodia (ABC), said despite the impact of COVID-19, Cambodia's banking sector remains healthy and resilient. "Loan growth is not as strong as it used to be in the previous year due to the spread of the pandemic; however, deposit growth is still robust because customers, who have not found any new business opportunities during the pandemic, have placed their deposits with the banks," he told Xinhua. According to Channy, the Southeast Asian nation has 56 commercial banks, 11 specialized banks, and 6 representative offices of foreign banks. He said that more than 5 million Cambodians have formal bank accounts as of early 2021, up from about 4 million in 2019. Speaking of the presence of Chinese banks in Cambodia, Channy said Chinese banks such as the Bank of China and the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China have been actively contributing to Cambodia's socio-economic development. Meanwhile, Channy expressed the ABC's intention to seek cooperation with Chinese banking and financial associations in order to exchange knowledge and best practices in the banking industry. CAMBODIA: Japanese offer tech expertise to help farmers

Cambodia and Japan have agreed to work together developing the Kingdom's tourism sector with a focus on attracting visitors to farms and selling them locally grown produce. Tourism Development Department Director General Thong Rathsak met Hiroyuki Tokito and Naoya Okada, tourism representatives from the Japanese embassy in Phnom Penh, this week. They agreed to encourage more visitors to Cambodia through promoting the country as a travel destination and supporting each other's vaccination programmers with an eye to a possible quarantine-free travel corridor between the two nations. The three also discussed developing education initiatives such as scholarships and online training and natural resource management. Rathsak, Tokito and Okada also talked about agro-tourism opportunities in Cambodia. The 2 countries recently agreed to sign a memorandum of understanding (MoU) between Yamato Green and the Cambodian Agricultural Community Alliance. Agriculture Minister Veng Sakhon and Japanese Embassy's Deputy Chief of Mission Atsushi Karimata agreed on the MoU on a "Partnership on Development of Vegetable Production Values". Japanese Embassy's Deputy Chief of Mission said the Kingdom's agricultural sector has a lot of potential to create jobs, generate income, train farm workers and utilize Japanese agricultural technology. Yamato Green is a Japanese company based in Phnom Penh that uses Japanese technology to improve farming in Cambodia, raise food quality and safety and promote local produce overseas, starting with Japan. It focuses on technology for greenhouses and harvesting. The company says it uses the Internet of Things (IOT) to add to the food value chain. The IOT utilizes sensors and other technology embedded in equipment to allow it to communicate with other devices and share information with its operators. (Khmer Times)

CHINA: Chinese state media moves to stabilize markets

AFP – Chinese state media sought to reassure markets yesterday after a rout fueled by Beijing’s latest regulatory crackdowns, saying markets were likely to stabilize and that the new rules would prove beneficial to the economy in the long term. Investors have been sent scurrying this week after Beijing unveiled a series of new rules for the private education and food delivery sectors, which Bloomberg said had wiped nearly $1.5 trillion off the value of companies in Hong Kong and mainland China since Thursday last week. The Hang Seng Index in Hong Kong gave up almost 10 % over three trading days to Tuesday’s close, while the Shanghai Composite Index shed more than 5 %. But Chinese media came out yesterday to temper the panic, which is showing signs of seeping into global markets. The recent sharp drops were “unsustainable” and indexes were expected to gradually stabilize, the Securities Daily said in a front page article citing a securities company. “Short-term policies and high valuations have caused panic-selling,” it added, but the inflow of long-term capital remained the direction of travel for Chinese shares. The hefty selling in private tutorial firms came after officials announced new rules over the weekend compelling them to register as non-profit organizations and banning them from raising capital or going public. That effectively smashed the business models of multibillion-dollar enterprises, with analysts calling them essentially uninvestable. Beijing also turned its attention to the food delivery sector, ordering companies to ensure workers are paid a minimum wage and relax delivery time limits. Meanwhile, Tencent was told it had violated antitrust laws and was compelled to relinquish its exclusive music label rights, the latest in a long-running campaign to rein in the country’s tech titans who are considered to have grown too powerful.
