"CSX is proud to have become a financing platform that enables both private companies and state-owned enterprises with strong potential to raise capital for business expansion while enhancing their regional competitiveness," he said. Sok Hour added that CSX is working closely with the SERC to introduce new financial products. Over the next one to two years, the market expected to launch a range of innovative investment products that will be more accessible, attractive and diversified, providing both individual and institutional investors with additional short- and long-term investment opportunities. In his remarks, Heang described the company's IPO roadshow as the culmination of nearly 26 years of hard work and sacrifice. CAMBODIA: Six New Northeast Investment Projects worth $83M Approved, Creating 2,587 Jobs

The government has approved special investment incentives for six projects worth approximately $83 million in Cambodia's northeastern provinces, with the investments expected to create 2,587 new jobs across the agriculture, agro-processing and eco-tourism sectors. CAMBODIA: PM calls for 'Made in Cambodia' quality to drive economic growth

Prime Minister Hun Manet has urged micro-, small- and medium-sized enterprises (MSMEs) to priorities product quality and competitiveness to secure long-term domestic growth, moving beyond reliance on patriotic consumer sentiment. Speaking at the 3rd National Day of MSMEs at the Koh Pich Convention and Exhibition Centre in Phnom Penh yesterday, the Prime Minister highlighted the sector's status as the backbone of the Cambodian economy, currently supporting 63% of the GDP and over 70% of total employment. "If we want long-term sustainability, we must win consumers through quality and affordability," he said, noting that local enterprises must remain competitive against international imports. While the government aims to boost domestic production in sectors such as food processing and furniture manufacturing, the Prime Minister warned that import substitution could not rely on trade barriers. As a member of the World Trade Organization, Cambodia must maintain open markets to ensure its own exports remain unhindered. He said that the "Made in Cambodia" label must reflect genuine local manufacturing rather than foreign goods simply rebranded for the domestic market. The Prime Minister also highlighted a surge in local entrepreneurial activity, noting that 2,353 new products were register during the first five months of 2026, compared to 1,336 for the entirety of 2023. He encouraged MSMEs to scale their operations to build a more resilient industrial base. "The only sustainable path forward is to strengthen our own competitiveness," he said. AKP

CAMBODIA: Cambodia, France to deepen agricultural cooperation

Cambodia and France are making steady progress in strengthening bilateral cooperation in the agricultural sector, with both countries working to deepen collaboration on One Health initiatives and finalize a memorandum of understanding (MoU) aimed at expanding agricultural cooperation. The progress highlighted during an inter-ministerial meeting held on Friday at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation, where representatives from relevant ministries and institutions gathered to review the implementation of Cambodia-France cooperation across various sectors. Presiding over the meeting together with officials from the ministry's Department of International Cooperation in Phnom Penh, Undersecretary of State of the Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries (MAFF), Hong Narith outlined two key areas of cooperation involving the MAFF, emphasizing the growing partnership between the 2 countries in addressing agricultural development and public health challenges. Cooperation between the two countries has expanded across a broad range of subsectors and programmers, particularly under the framework of Cambodia's National One Health Committee, led by the Ministry of Health. Recent discussions between Cambodian and French partners have focused on jointly preparing a concept paper related to the implementation of the One Health approach. Under this framework, MAFF and its French counterparts have been working together to strengthen the country's capacity to prevent, detect and respond to infectious diseases transmitted between animals and humans. The cooperation includes developing standard operating procedures, improving disease surveillance systems, enhancing prevention and monitoring mechanisms, and strengthening emergency response measures for animal-borne disease outbreaks. The ministry has also been cooperating with the Institute Pasteur du Caboodle and the French Development Agency (AFD) to improve laboratory diagnostic capabilities, epidemiological research and infectious disease surveillance. According to Hong, these efforts are contributing to stronger research capacity on zoonotic diseases, improved laboratory systems and greater data sharing, enabling Cambodia to better respond to health threats affecting both humans and animals. Cambodia and France are preparing a MoU on agricultural cooperation between their respective ministries of agriculture. The proposed agreement follows the bilateral meeting between the agriculture ministers of Cambodia and France held on the sidelines of the One Health Summit in France in April 2026, during which both sides expressed their commitment to further expanding cooperation in the agricultural sector. The MoU is expect to provide a stronger institutional framework for future collaboration while supporting joint initiatives that contribute to sustainable agricultural development, disease prevention and improved food security, Hong said. Concluding the meeting, Hong reaffirmed MAFF's commitment to working closely with relevant ministries, institutions and French partners under the National One Health Committee to advance One Health-related programs.
